McClure tenders resignation from council

By-election will be held to fill vacancy

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

And then there were six. Drayton Valley Town Council will be holding a by-election in the new year after Nancy McClure tendered her resignation last week.

The Town of Drayton Valley announced it had received McClure's resignation on Nov. 17. Reasons for the resignation were not provided to the municipality, said the press release.

Mayor Glenn McLean was out of the country last week when McClure's resignation was received. Speaking to the Western Review when he returned last Friday, McLean said he had been aware that McClure was going to submit her resignation, but was not aware of the reasons behind her decision.

Last weekend McClure said the choice to submit her resignation was due to personal reasons, although she noted that her health is fine.

"I do want to thank Mayor Glenn McLean and members of council who provided mentorship and friendship," she said. "I will continue to be involved in this wonderful community in any way I can."

McClure remains in her separate elected role as a member of the Wild Rose School Division Board of Trustees, where she currently serves as Chair.

The Town of Drayton Valley will now look to filling the vacancy on council.

"We have to get a by-election set and hopefully there will be a healthy cross-section of candidates," said McLean.

He indicated that council would be meeting this week to discuss the timing of a by-election.

The Municipal Government Act states that a by-election must be held within 90 days. Although council has not yet discussed the matter, McLean said personally he is content that the 90-day timeframe will be sufficient.

In the meantime council will carry on with its business as usual, with one difference — the remaining members of council will be taking on McClure's committee duties.

"To a one, council has stepped up to fill those committee obligations," said McLean. "I want to commend the council for acknowledging that as a responsibility to the community."

With only six members around the council table, in the event of a tie on a decision council will follow Robert's Rules of Order, which stipulates any tie vote will result in the motion being defeated.

Although not related, Brazeau County is also in the position of calling a by-election. The County needs to elect a new reeve after the resignation of Pat Vos on Nov. 10. However, that municipality has asked Municipal Affairs to grant it an extension until April to hold its by-election.

ARC working toward reclamation of Rotary Park site

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

The most visible signs of an ARC Resources site on the edge of Rotary Park are gone. Last week representatives from the company were in front of Drayton Valley councillors to update them on the decommissioning and reclamation of the site, which has been on the location since 1954.

A service rig moved onto the site, adjacent to the tennis courts, last week to allow for down hole abandonment of the well. The rig moved off on Nov. 18 and the pumpjack and green fencing that used to announce the site as industrial are gone. Work is now underway for soil testing and then the well bore and pipeline will be capped.

Not everything went smoothly as the company did receive some complaints about fumes from the equipment and its proximity to the pool. Park Valley Pool was closed at certain times due to concerns over air quality.

With that work now completed, any necessary remedial work on the site will take place over the winter. Representatives told council that at this point they are confident that remedial work will not include having to encroach on the tennis courts. The reclamation of the site will commence when conditions are more favourable and will include consultation with the municipality in terms of how the site should be reclaimed.

NEW CONTRACTOR FOR EPAC

At last week's meeting town councillors approved a new construction management contract for Phase I of renovations to the Eleanor Pickup Arts Centre. Work started in late summer of 2013, but the original contractor ended the contract in early 2014 prior to work being completed. Since then work on the project, including the construction of new washrooms for the facility, has been at a standstill.

The Town of Drayton Valley is acting as the project manager for the renovations and has been negotiating for a new construction management contract over the past several months.

Last week council approved a contract with Temple Contracting Inc. to complete work on Phase I of the renovations.

TOWN EYES OVER COUNTY OFFER TO PURCHASE

Town council has approved an offer by Brazeau County to purchase one half undivided interest in the Eleanor Pickup Arts Centre and lands on which it sits.

Earlier this year Brazeau County Council decided to become part owners of the community facility.

Last week council approved an addition to the agreement acknowledging the Letter of Default issued to Gruber Construction Ltd. (the original contractor) on Oct. 2, 2014, regarding the concerns raised with respect to the formation and composition of the foundation of the Centre.

LETTER TO SUPPORT PCCS APPLICATION

Last week councillors approved submitting a letter of support to bolster a grant application to the Family and Community Safety Program by the Pembina Crisis Connection Society.

The organization is seeking a significant grant to create a community action plan to address root causes of social issues that impact the safety and well-being of those who live here.

DEBT TO UTILITIES TABLED

After an in camera discussion pertaining to the purchase of lands by the Town of Drayton Valley, council approved a motion to table a decision on the item to a future council meeting.

Under the Municipal Government Act discussions around the purchase of land can be conducted in private, although motions relating to the issue must be made in public.

PROTECTING PRIVACY

Council has approved three policies designed to outline the expectations for safeguarding the privacy of employees and those accessing Town services. The responsibilities of the municipality are legislated though the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and the Personal Information Protection Act, however the policies will set out the practices that need to be followed in the collection of information.

Councillors approved three separate policies: Privacy Policy, Online Privacy Policy and Employee and Volunteer Privacy Policy.

REZONING GETS FIRST READING

A rezoning application to change approximately four to five acres of land from Agricultural District to General Commercial District was given first reading last week.

The rezoning of the property, located in front of Pleasantview trailer court and adjacent to the Ramada Hotel, would allow for road expansion and the development of commercial businesses similar to those already being developed along the 50 St. south corridor.

LIONS STILL ROARING IN AREA

Drayton Valley Lions Club member Lorna Luchyk was in front of council for the Community Spotlight last week.

Luchyk detailed the history of the Lions Club contributions to the community since being established in 1957, including its latest project — undertaking the Santas Anonymous program in the area.

Eglinski clinches MP role with large margin over nearest opponent

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

People of Yellowhead who cast ballots last week favoured Conservative candidate Jim Eglinski, who won the Nov. 17 by-election to become the new Member of Parliament for the riding.

"Winning feels really good," he said last week over the phone. "It is a very exciting place to be. I'm in Ottawa right now. I look forward to serving the people of Yellowhead."

Eglinski won with 62.6 per cent of the votes cast.

"I was very excited about last Monday night. I was hoping for 65 per cent but it was about 62. We knew the numbers would drop from the previous elections because it was a by-election," said Eglinski.

Liberal candidate Ryan Maguhn came in second place with 20 per cent of the votes, NDP candidate Eric Rosendahl had a 9.5 per cent of votes while Independent candidate Dean Williams came in at 4.9 per cent and Libertarian candidate Cory Lystang came in at 3 per cent of the votes.

Voter turnout for the by-election stood at around16 per cent this year.

"I was not happy with them (voting numbers)," said Eglinski. "But throughout the campaign I asked everyone to go vote. We knew they would be down. Because during by-elections, the numbers are one-third lower than normal election."

Elections Canada spokesperson Diane Benson agreed.

"Voting turnout in by-election tends to be lower than in general elections, probably because of greater awareness, more news coverage and more advertisement," explained Benson last week.

"But it can depend on number of factors, local issues, local factors. Turnout in by-election and general election tend to be higher in some parts than others," she said.

During the 2011 general election when Rob Merrifield was re-elected MP for Yellowhead, national voter turnout in the country was about 61 per cent while turnout in Yellowhead was 55.1 per cent.

"So Yellowhead was a just a little lower," said Benson.

While in Ottawa, Eglinski attended the national Caucus and Alberta Caucus before coming back to Yellowhead.

The Keystone XL pipeline was one of the topics of discussion at the national level, he said.

"I think it will be very beneficial for Alberta. It is what we need. It's big for our province, for our country and for the U.S. too. But Obama has the power to veto," he said in favour of the Keystone XL pipeline.

"Polls say about 60 per cent of the U.S. population is in favour of Keystone," he added.

After his return from Ottawa Eglinski has some waiting to do before being sworn in.

"I think I will probably be back to the riding this weekend, most paperwork will be done here and I could go home Friday morning (Nov. 21). There is some more paperwork at the constituency office there," he said last week.

Eglinski then has to wait about 10 days for some documents to come in from Elections Canada after which he will be sworn in.

His immediate agenda is to get out and introduce himself to constituents.

"I wanted to give my time to people so we will be starting right off the bat with that," he said.

"I wanted to thank all the people who came out to vote. It's important we take part, and especially those who voted in my favour," he added.

Council votes 3–2 against development permit

Proposed liquor store a cause for concern for council

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

After months of discussion and debate in the community, the majority of council has said no to a commercial development that would have included a gas bar and convenience store, car wash and liquor store.

Last week Drayton Valley Town Council voted 3-2 to reject a development permit submitted by Leduc Co-op. The development permit, for a portion of land behind Dodson Plaza (4503-49 St.), was seeking approval for the development of commercial uses deemed discretionary under the Central Commercial zoning the property was recently approved for.

The rezoning application from residential to commercial uses received first reading in July and went through a series of public meetings, was tabled more than once and passed third reading by a vote of 3-2 at the Oct. 29 council meeting. At that time the accompanying development permit was tabled for decision last week.

Coun. Nicole Nadeau made the motion for council to approve the development permit with a number of conditions, including fencing the adjacent Evergreen Elementary School property.

The floor was then open for further council discussion prior to the final vote.

"I can't remember a more contentious issue in my five and a half years on council," said Coun. Debra Bossert, noting she believed she would be the swing vote in the decision.

At the Oct. 29 meeting she voted in favour of the rezoning, supportive of a high density housing component the developers were proposing for the remainder of the property.

However, last week she said she was concerned that she would say yes to the discretionary use businesses and then the developers wouldn't follow through with the housing portion of the site.

She said she believed Leduc Co-op would be a good addition to the community, but not with the current proposal.

"For this community, I do no believe this is the right development for this area," she said.

Coun. Dean Shular, who has expressed his concerns throughout the process, and voted against the rezoning application, re-iterated many of the concerns he's heard from the public — concerns he said he echoes, including increases in traffic and the inclusion of a liquor store.

He also noted that council recently turned down a proposed housing development due to traffic concerns and said he would need to have reasons as to why council would turn that down, yet approve another development where traffic has also been identified as a concern.

In regards to the liquor store, he pointed out that two years ago council had tried to beef up restrictions surrounding adult businesses, including liquor stores. In the end liquor stores were restricted from fronting on schools, day care facilities or playgrounds.

"And they've found a way around it," he said of the proposed development.

In the site plan the proposed liquor store would have been located on the far side of the development, away from the school.

During that debate over adult businesses Shular declared a pecuniary interest as he was the owner of a liquor store at the time. He made submissions to council opposing liquor stores being subject to the same restrictions as adult businesses.

Last week Coun. Nicole Nadeau started her comments about the development permit talking about the importance of economic development and making decisions based on the good of the entire community, noting it hasn't been an easy issue for council.

"It's been a struggle. It's been a tax on council," she said.

In the end she stated that if the development permit had come forward without the liquor store, she would have been able to support it.

> For this community, I do not believe this is the right development for this area.
> — Coun. Debra Bossert

"Not supporting, this isn't me, this is how I represent my community," she said.

On the other side of the issue was Coun. Fayrell Wheeler. She acknowledged the concern over traffic, but addressed those focused on the proposed liquor store in her comments.

"I think the market, in the end, will decide," she said. "Who survives, survives. I don't think the government should decide what businesses. I am in favour of the full development."

Coun. Graham Long, who was unable to vote throughout the rezoning process after being absent during the public hearing, was able to weigh in on the development permit.

"I have given this a lot of thought," he said. "I agree with Councillor Wheeler."

He noted that if councillors were interested in looking at the issue of particular businesses such as liquor stores, that was a discussion they should look at having separately.

The final decision saw Wheeler and Long in support of the development permit and Shular, Bossert and Nadeau opposed.

Representatives from Leduc Co-op were in attendance at the meeting, as were the current property owners.

Although there was no opportunity for them to address council during the meeting, Leduc Co-op had submitted a letter to the municipality addressing some of the common concerns. However the letter, dated Nov. 14, was not included in the agenda package along with other submissions regarding the development permit. The Western Review obtained a copy of the letter, signed by Leduc Co-op General Manager Rick Polasek and Chairman of the Board Peter Brouer, after the meeting.

A call to the Town of Drayton Valley Planning and Development Department last Thursday, asking why the letter was not included as an addition to the agenda package, was not returned by the Western Review's deadline.

In its letter, Leduc Co-op outlined its business plan for the site, as well as examples of similar projects it has undertaken in other municipalities.

It committed to working with municipal departments to assist with an action plan on traffic management, as well as committing to the construction of the high density residential portion of the site, while noting that proceeding with the marginal-return housing was dependant on the approval of the commercial portion of the development as presented.

"We expect the construction of the residential housing in Lot # 3 to commence eighteen months after possession date," states the letter. "We are prepared to commit to such a development on the condition that the Town of Drayton Valley provide a suitable and acceptable development agreement and development permit for the multi-unit residential facility with acceptable terms and conditions attached that properly reflect the Town's desire to keep the costs of the project, and therefore the required rental rates low and affordable."

The letter also addresses community and council concerns over the inclusion of a liquor store in the development, which Leduc Co-op said due to their analysis of the market they were confident would be a viable operation.

"We are aware of the social problems that poorly operated liquor stores could bring to your community and we have a strong track record of ensuring that this does not happen, as all of the communities we operate in can attest," it stated.

Market should decide, not council

Last week Drayton Valley Town Council voted 3-2 against a development permit that would have seen commercial development take place on a vacant lot known as 4503-49 St. (behind Dodson Plaza). The permit dealt with a number of discretionary uses proposed for the property, which was rezoned as Central Commercial last month. Among those was a gas bar and convenience store, car wash and liquor store.

The proposed uses have proved contentious in the community, especially for their proximity to Evergreen Elementary School. Chief among the targets for opposition was the proposed liquor store.

No councillor seemed to take issue with the convenience store, also a discretionary use as part of a proposed gas bar. The liquor store was the main focus of discussion, with Coun. Nicole Nadeau pinpointing it as the reason she wasn't voting in favour of the development permit and others highlighting it as a main factor as well.

But if the concern is proximity to an elementary school the argument could be made that of the two businesses, the convenience store poses more problems, given the fact that students could go in and purchase whatever they want. The school division expressed concerns over the gas bar, but not specifically over the temptation that might be posed to students by pop, chips and candy readily available to those of any age who can pay for them.

And last week it was the liquor store that garnered the most focus at the council table.

Since elementary school students would be unable to purchase any product at the store, it seems the concern must be vice by association. The belief must be that students will be negatively influenced simply by seeing the liquor store or driving by it on their way to and from school. If that is the case the municipality may need to look at implementing measures preventing children and youth from travelling on major roads in town to prevent similar association from happening. That will, however, make it difficult for students at Eldorado and DCS to get to school.

Many of the letters of opposition to the proposal expressed the sentiment that Drayton Valley doesn't need another liquor store. That is certainly an opinion people are entitled to. But as Coun. Feyrell Wheeler pointed out, the market will decide. If the customer base is not there to support another liquor store then one will close.

To vote against a development because the belief of some is that a particular business is not needed, or wanted, smacks of legislating morality.

Previous council had limited success in that with the restrictions implemented through its revised definition of Adult Businesses. Liquor stores were exempted from the harshest of those. The only stipulation placed on them was that they were not to front onto schools, day care facilities or playgrounds.

Those opposed to more liquor stores in general shouldn't be fooled into thinking this is a win. The only reason this business was able to be turned down is because of the particular zoning of that land. If another proprietor wants to open a liquor store under different zoning where it is not a discretionary use, they will be able to do so.

Council is perfectly within its right to turn down, or place conditions on, any business that is termed discretionary within a particular zoning. However, they should be examining whether those reasons are based on sound planning, or something more subjective and personal.

Lessons in generosity

There and Back
Courtney Whalen

I don't think it comes as a surprise to many who live here that Drayton Valley and Brazeau County is full of kind and generous people, businesses and companies. All you need to do is attend a local fundraising event, or look to examples like Warming Hearts, Santas Anonymous, the food bank, or a host of other examples.

But in the last few weeks I have found myself amazed at how quickly people are able to mobilize and respond to families in immediate need of some generosity, not just financial, but of the spirit as well.

By now most of you will have learned of a young family who last week was just moving to the area when a thief stole their truck, trailer and all their belongings. The story was featured on Edmonton television media, detailing the struggle the family of three now faced, stuck in a new place with nothing. Their initial introduction to this community is certainly not what any of us wanted to see, but what has happened in the week since then is something this community can hold its head up about.

Local people, businesses and organizations have stepped up in droves to prove to the family that Drayton Valley and Brazeau County is not reflected in the criminal act they experienced. I will have more on that story in next week's edition, but I can tell you that the generosity I have learned of just through posts on local social media groups is enough to bring tears to even my cynical and jaded eyes.

The best part about it all is that people aren't stepping forward to help so they can get a pat on the back, or have someone tell them what good people they are, they're doing it because helping this family is what they want to do.

This is the second time in the last several weeks that I've see this huge outpouring. The first was when a family of six in Violet Grove lost their home and their belongings in a house fire. Thankfully no one was hurt, but that kind of immediate and devastating loss of home and possessions must leave people overwhelmed.

The community response to this event was also immediate, again aided by the prevalence of social media. People stepped forward with offers of clothes, shelter, sports equipment, financial donations and kind words of support.

When you've been hit by unexpected and crippling events like both these families were I can only imagine that having people, both those you know and complete strangers, come forward and offer support in any form is a rainbow in a stormy situation.

So to all those who have stepped forward to help these families in some form, and to those whose generosity is seen in so many ways every day, thank you. Thank you for proving that Drayton Valley is a place people should be proud to call home.

So... should I be insulted?

Lesley's Lessons
Lesley Allan

So needless to say that the voting numbers for Yellowhead riding were less than stellar last week, with only 17 per cent of eligible voters making the way to polling stations for the federal by-election.

I get that not everyone votes, which I think is ridiculous to begin with, but I also know many do... however this did not show on Nov. 17 when it mattered.

Following the by-election results being posted on our Facebook page, including that very low statistic, there were several people who said they did not know there was an election. Personally this stung a little bit, and at times can make my job a little less rewarding.

Should I be insulted that people are uninformed? Probably not, after all it's up to them to find out information on community events and as Canadians we should take it upon ourselves to follow the day to day activity of the people who run this country, province and our municipalities.

Alas, I have to admit I do kind of find it insulting that people, especially those who follow us on Facebook, don't actually read the stories we put together week after week.

This disappointing idea is evident in the fact the for two weeks in a row we had information about the candidates running in the by-election, as well as an editorial about the importance of residents making their way to the polls.

This is not the only area of day to day life that glaringly shows how many people do not take advantage of the work my co-workers and I do from week to week.

Often I find myself on the Opinion Page, I won't deny that there are sometimes things on there that can lead to stories, or at least column ideas, but often I see people questioning and looking for information on things that were recently featured in our paper.

I'm not saying I expect everyone in the town and county to buy a subscription or visit a local retailer and pay for a weekly edition, we also make the majority of our stories available online for free, which means people can enjoy the paper on any smart phone, tablet, or computer in the comfort of their home or even while sipping a coffee in your favourite shop.

I know that many people watch the Edmonton news or follow federal or provincial stories, but I feel that sometime the stories that truly impact the day to day lives slip under their noses and are lost because they don't follow the local papers.

I feel that Drayton Valley is very lucky to have a local paper that can make them aware of what's going on in the area, and let's face it as the newspaper industry continues to change more and more communities across the country are losing their local papers and when this happens it becomes harder for people to access the information they're looking for.

Staying on top of the happenings in our community is important and as a paper we strive to make it easier for you to access this information, not only because we want you to know what's happening, but because we passionately feel that everyone should know just what's going on and how great this area is.

Adults leave a lasting impact on children

Mental Health matters

Having an adult other than a parent to look up to is an important part of a child's life and to their mental health. The impact of adult relationships is referred to in the 40 developmental asset checklist, which states the importance of having a parent and other adult model positive, responsible behaviour and that a young person should receive support from three or more non-parent adults.

Looking back at my childhood and adults that were a part of it, I can see how many of them made a contribution to my life and my mental health. Be it older siblings who were my protectors and made me feel safe, my teacher who encouraged me to write and to dream, the teacher who embarrassed me to bring me out of my shell, or the funny girl guide leader who showed me it's all right to be silly. They all helped me to become the person I am today.

An adult who stands out in my mind who was a part of my life from kindergarten until today is my bus driver. He was always there to greet me when I got on the bus with a fond good morning, and a good night when I returned home. He would amuse me with Mexican jumping beans and treat the entire bus to ice cream treats at the end of the school year even when some of us misbehaved. He usually caved in and let us listen to "our" music, aside from the CPCW knee slapper interruption. He was the one constant positive each day.

My bus driver and his wife became family friends, and his children became friends as well. We were involved in 4H clubs together and soon he was a friendly face I would see off the bus as well. Although I may not have realized it when I was a child, as an adult I could see how important he was in my life, and when it came to my wedding day, what better chauffeur could I have had? Even today when I see him it warms my heart and lifts my spirits, bringing me back to my childhood once again.

So how did he play a role in my mental health? He taught me that a simple greeting can make a person's day, and that little things in life can give you a smile (like the Mexican jumping beans). A friendly face in the crowd can reduce anxiety (especially when 4H public speaking). That sometimes we need to put other people's feelings and needs first and sometimes we need to look past the things that upset us and still find generosity in our hearts. And that old friendships are precious and should be treasured.

Take a look at the children you connect with each day. What kind of a difference are you making in their lives? You may not even realize it now, and neither may they, but some of the simplest things may be making a world of difference.

Around the water cooler...

As you can tell, we're a bit strapped for space this week! There are way too many events happening in our area in the coming weeks to cover in this small space.

You can find out about many of them by turning to our community events section on pg. 55.

We do want to take a minute to send out big birthday wishes to one of our favourite friends, who celebrates on Nov. 27. Happy birthday to Elliot Manard! Have a great day and even better things in the year ahead!

We do want to take a few lines and say congratulations to all those involved in putting together this year's Christmas light up parade. It was great to see people lining the streets to wave as all the floats went by! What an awesome way to kick off the season.

Kudos, too, to the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation for its successful Family Fun Night and annual Festival Gala held in support of the CT4DV campaign!

Aaaaand, that's all we have room for this week.

Have a nifty end of November.

Provincial leaders head back to work for fall session

Provincial government heads into fall session under new leadership

Lesley Allan
Western Review

Provincial leaders made their way back to the office last week as Nov. 17 marked the beginning of fall session, one that is being touted to usher in changes for the province and how it does business with a new leader sitting as premier.

"It's definitely a new leadership and a new vision for Alberta," says Diana McQueen, MLA for Drayton Valley-Devon and Minister of Municipal Affairs.

"When [Jim Prentice] ran for leadership he said about listening to Albertans first, bringing forward the things that they asked for, Bill 1 is certainly reflective of that, Bill 2 will be once it's introduced (the Accountability Act), and certainly to not bring things forward that people aren't asking for," she continued. "So you see that it's a light agenda as far as legislation, but the work that we do with people is the heavy part of the agenda."

Despite the legislature missing two weeks of work after being prorogued by Prentice in mid September, McQueen explains that leaders will not be taking off any time prior to Dec. 18, and that the province is committed to ensuring that the work that needs to be done will be done.

This move is especially important for the province as it looks ahead at what can be done to ensure the finances stay balanced as oil prices continue to drop.

"With $75 oil it's not business as usual and so we'll look at the budget and balance this budget, but as we're preparing for the next budget we'll have to see where oil falls out at," says McQueen.

"It's tough times right now, next week there'll be a third quarter update with regards to finances from the Treasury Board and Minister of Finance Robin Campbell, and the Premier will do with regards to $75 oil and what does that mean for the province," she continued. "We're still committed to balancing our budget on the operational side, committed to still building the schools and the seniors facilities."

With terms like flat tax being thrown around, McQueen says it's important for Albertans to know that at this time no changes are being planned, but rather they continue to focus on internal cuts and how to make the current budget work.

"We're not talking about new taxes right now," she states. "What we're looking at is how do we reduce spending in our ministries and right now we're concentrating on this year's budget and not on next year's yet."

Besides the budget, members started the new session by looking at a number of topics including the Respecting Property Rights Act, Personal Information Protection Amendment Act, the Horse Racing Alberta Amendment Act, Securities Amendment Act, and finally the Statutes Amendment Act.

According to McQueen, many of the changes made during the first week of the session are ones that will have an impact on the behind the scenes operation of different department and won't be noticeable to the majority of Albertans.

Despite this, McQueen is positive about what she thinks the legislature will be able to accomplish as all parties appear to be ready to work and to do what's best for the province.

"I think we've had a great kick off, I know the Speaker said yesterday it was the first time we've ever had a full week in session where we haven't had a point of order," she laughed. "I would say all parties are working hard as a government and the opposition are questioning us but the decorum has been good in the house."

Another unusual occurrence according to McQueen is how the premier has approached the legislature and how he plans to look at it moving into the future.

Despite being in a new position, she says he is off to a good start and is already demonstrating how prepared he is to lead the province into the future.

"He's outstanding," says McQueen. "I've got to say I'm so impressed. He was a federal minister for a long time, but it's been a few years since he himself has been elected and in the legislature. He's doing outstanding."

"This is a man who really knows the issues, understands them, and articulates them so well. He is also doing something that's very different and that we don't normally see premiers doing," she continues. "He has stayed throughout all question period and he's been in every question period every day and he stays out. Normally a leader will stay for the first six questions from the opposition and then go, Premier Prentice has been there for the entire question period and so it's excellent. He's doing an outstanding job and is being received very well with the kind of legislation that is coming through."

CT4DV Gala brings out community generosity

Gala raises money to bring CT scanner to Drayton Valley

Lesley Allan
Western Review

It was an evening of festive fundraising as the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation hosted the CT4DV Festival Gala on Nov. 22.

Over the years, the foundation has used the funds raised with its annual gala event to benefit the community through various projects through the hospital. This year the event will support the installation of a CT scanner in the community and the night's gala served as one of the foundation's major efforts of the year

"This is our big annual fundraiser," explains Colleen Sekura, foundation fund development officer for the health services foundation. "This is what we do in Drayton Valley. We do that little dinner theatre over in Breton but this is our fundraiser and when we took on the CT Scanner that people in this community stepped up to the plate and supported us here and in other ways."

Explaining the many ways people have already stepped up to the plate when it comes to ensuring the $1.8 million CT scanner goal is possible, Sekura said the evening's turnout was just another example of the community's generosity.

"I think tonight shows this community's support," she said. "We're sold out, there were no extra tickets tonight, everybody came out to support this cause and it just is really about community here."

Even before the seats were filled and the night's auction began, Sekura said the support of those in the area is strong.

"To our sponsors, I want them to know our immense gratitude," said shared. "We couldn't' do any of this without them, we absolutely cannot do this without them."

The total amount of funds raised at the gala event wasn't available prior to the Western Review going to press.

Festive family fun kicks off Christmas in Drayton

There was a little bit of everything down at the MacKenzie Conference Centre on Nov. 21 as the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation held its annual Family Fun Night event. With shopping for the parents, as well as a magic show that entertained everyone, it was a night of fun for local children as they got to take part in a wide variety of fun activities including decorating cookies and mini Christmas trees.

Woman gets jail for role in theft of liquor

News from Drayton Valley Provincial Court

[redacted]

A 28 year old woman was sentenced to spend 45 days in jail after pleading guilty to a number of charges in Drayton Valley Provincial Court last week.

Kelly Gopher appeared in court via closed circuit television and pleaded guilty to two charges of theft under $5,000, one charge of breach of probation, one charge of failing to report to probation and one charge of failing to attend treatment.

Gopher was arrested on Nov. 9 after police received a call from a local liquor store about the theft of alcohol. Gopher was among those who were identified as suspects from video surveillance at the store. While police were investigating that incident they received another call, this time of a theft from Walmart, involving suspects that matched the description of the suspects in the liquor store theft. Gopher was located and arrested. At the time she was on probation and under conditions not to enter a place where the primary purpose is the sale of alcohol.

She was also charged for failing to report to probation between July and September, as well as failing to attend treatment as ordered.

The woman, who the court heard is seven months pregnant, had been in custody since her arrest on Nov. 9.

The Crown was asking the court to consider a sentence of 60 days, but Gopher's lawyer was asking for a shorter sentence, noting his client didn't want to be in a position where she was giving birth while still in jail. The court further heard that Gopher wasn't stealing the liquor for herself, as she has been sober since learning of her pregnancy.

"I know I made a lot of mistakes in the past," Gopher said, noting she wants to straighten her life out for her unborn child.

Judge Marilyn White sentenced Gopher to 45 days in jail, with credit for the equivalent of 15 days spent in pre-sentence custody.

TIME SERVED FOR TAKING TRUCK

A woman was given credit for time spent in pre-sentence custody after she pleaded guilty to a number of charges in Drayton Valley Provincial Court last week.

Jenille Hafner pleaded guilty to charges including possession of stolen property under $5,000 and taking a motor vehicle without consent.

The charges were the result of a call received by Drayton Valley RCMP around 3 a.m. on Dec. 21, 2013. The caller reported that a woman had come to the door of a home in a local trailer court, indicating she needed a ride to Buck Creek.

Although they didn't know the woman, the resident of the home agreed to give her a ride and started warming up his vehicle. Shortly after he noticed the truck and the woman were gone. The man went in search of his truck and located it and the woman a short distance away. The woman, who was later determined to be Hafner, returned with the man to wait for police. At the time she said she was taking the truck to fuel it up.

A search of her belongings after she was arrested resulted in police finding a number of items that had been reported stolen, including two guns.

The court heard last week that Hafner had no criminal record prior to the incident and at the time had a meth addiction.

At the time she spent 42 days in pre-sentence custody before being released.

Judge Marilyn White heard that since the time of the incident Hafner's behaviour has changed dramatically for the better. She is now living with family. Her father was in court with her and her mother had provided a letter of support that was presented to the court.

While White expressed disbelief in Hafner's original claim that she had been taking the truck to put fuel in it, she did go along with a suggested sentence.

Hafner was sentenced to 63 days in jail with credit for the equivalent of 63 days spent in pre-sentence custody. She will also be subject to a lengthy term of probation.

[redacted]

A woman was ordered to pay a fine in Drayton Valley Provincial Court, for possession of drugs.

Jaime Beaulieu pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine in relation to an incident on Dec. 22, 2013.

That night RCMP were called to a local bar after patrons said they had seen a man drop a handgun on the floor. When police attended the man, and a female he had been with, were gone, but the woman was identified as Beaulieu.

Officers were able to locate the two and both were arrested. A search of Beaulieu's belongings after she was arrested revealed 3.4 grams of cocaine in her purse.

Last week Judge Marilyn White ordered the woman to pay a $2,000 fine

Drayton Valley Ringette hosts annual tournament

Lesley Allan Western Review

The Omniplex was full of athletes of all ages as Drayton Valley Ringette hosted its annual Ring in the Valley Tournament Nov. 21 to 23. Featuring teams in the U10 program, all the way up to U19, Drayton Valley had just more than 350 players hitting the ice for non-stop action, as well as fun and friendly competition. In the end of the tournament not all teams could take home the top spot, but tournaments such as Ring in the Valley serve as a tool to help improve the skills of athletes looking to gain more insight into a highly popular sport.

DV squad feels positive despite loss

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

Despite the biggest gap in goals yet this season, the DV Youngmen feel they are finally getting their feet under them this indoor soccer season.

Last week the Youngmen were meeting Palermo FC on the pitch, a team that's on a tear this season and averaging around seven goals a game. However, the Youngmen had faced the opponent many times in the past and were aware of what players would need to be shut down to keep the DV squad in the game. With a large bench heading into the match the team wasn't worried about fatigue.

Youngmen spokesman Brad Kelly said the game started out well although Palermo was making their presence felt, it allowed the Youngmen to mount some counter attacks. Where the team ran into trouble was building the counter attacks into scoring opportunities.

"Palermo pressured quite aggressively, so the player needing to distribute the ball didn't have time to always make the best decision," said Kelly.

The opposition got on the board first, but the Youngmen made good on a penalty shot shortly after to tie up the game. When Palermo scored their second of the game, there was a breakdown in strategy on the Youngmen side with line changes and Palermo netted another to make it 3-1 heading into the half.

"We were doing many things well, defensively, and were really executing the practice plan from the weekend," said Kelly. "What we needed now was for the front end to produce, and to the hold ball longer in their third of the field."

The second half saw Youngmen players losing the ball too quickly and get caught making a line change. As players were rushing back to defend, a bad deflection hit their foot and sent the ball into their own net to make it 4-1 for Palermo.

Although Kelly said the referee had seemed content to let both teams play even with what he said was questionable roughness, the Youngmen got called on a foul, leaving them shorthanded against the pool's top scoring team.

Palermo put the ball in play too quickly for the Youngmen to put their best plan into action and a deflected ball went in to make it 5-1. They netted another goal to make it 6-1 with tons of time left on the clock.

Even down by five, the Youngmen used the remainder of the match to improve their play.

"Our focus was to remain positive towards each other, and use the remainder of the game to learn and work on some items," said Kelly. "Despite the score our defence had a great game; we really lost the game through the midfield battles. Our best chances were thwarted by the Palermo keeper."

Kelly said the team didn't play that badly, Palermo was simply a strong opponent.

"We felt overall that this game was actually better than the last three games, despite the largest goal differential yet," he continued.

With lots of positives to build on the Youngmen are heading into their next match feeling positive, said Kelly.

DV THUNDER COMMUNITY CORNER

On Tuesday, Nov. 18 the Drayton Valley Thunder helped with the Can Skate Sports Fun Day. There were many different activities that took place while little skaters were on the ice. There were relay races, fast track skate, hockey, basketball and soccer games all taking place on the ice. The event had 65 youth and six Thunder players assisting the Can Skate volunteers. Thunder fundraise with 'Hands Helping Glands'

Lesley Allan Western Review

It was a night of good hockey and generosity as the Drayton Valley Thunder played against the Grande Prairie Storm and helped raise money to support cancer research. Taking part in Movember on an annual basis, players from the Thunder grew their best moustache and gave fans the opportunity to vote on which they thought were the manliest, creepiest, and lady's choice, with all funds raised from the night going to Prostate Cancer Canada. Although the action on the ice didn't turn out quite as the team wanted, with the Storm taking the win with a score of 3-2, the Thunder continue to be appreciative for the community support in all their hockey and fundraising initiatives. Results from the moustache voting will be announced during the Dec. 4 home game against Lloydminster

Mini handball squad strikes gold at tournament

Grade 3 and 4 students come in first place at provincial-level mini handball

Western Review

Everything turned out golden for a Drayton Valley mini handball team made up of Grade 3 and 4 players from local schools who brought home gold medals from a competition held recently in Edmonton.

The group faced some good competition against a team from Mayerthorpe on the road to their first place finish.

The first time the two teams met, in the round robin, Mayerthorpe had thrashed Drayton Valley 16-8. The team regrouped, started working better together, and then went on a roll," explained coach Daryn Breitkreuz in an e-mail last week.

The team once again faced Mayerthorpe later that day, this time in the finals, and the local team was redeemed in spades.

"In the final against Mayerthorpe (first in the A pool) it was a total team effort to stop the two snipers who had combined for 14 of the 16 goals in the first meeting. They covered those two like white on rice and won the gold 12-10," he said.

A total of two teams went to the Mini Handball Provincial Festival from schools in Drayton Valley with Grade 3 and 4 students comprising one team and Grade 5 and 6 students on the other.

"It was awesome. I was happy for my team," said Ethan Westphal a Grade 4 player from Aurora Elementary School.

"It's really fun. Both you and your team have fun. You have tournaments that you get to go to. It's also challenging," he added.

Westphal explained he wasn't interested in the game at first but he went the first time because of his mom and he had a lot of fun, so kept going.

"I will be playing in Grade 5 next year. I will keep playing and playing until I can't play anymore," said the nine-year-old.

Another Grade 4 player, who is a goalie on the team, agreed.

"I got to play with my team. I got cheered on. I made a lot of saves," said Mitchell Hanus from Aurora Elementary School.

The coach was happy with the performance of the players and sees potential in the fairly new game.

"The team made up of Grade 5 and 6 students won one game, lost a couple of close ones, and lost by one in the consolation semi-final. Both teams were missing some firepower because some of the players chose to play hockey instead of handball that day," he said.

The season had about 35 players but only about 19 players could make it to the tournament.

"We had 35 in the season but because of hockey we lost 10 and we had to tell children we didn't have space and coaches so 19 went -- 18 on a bus and one with a parent," he explained.

Breitkreuz explained the game doesn't see a lot of coaches to help out and busing gets expensive with out additional sponsorship.

"I am hoping more teachers and parents will get into coaching. It is a simple game for little kids to learn," he said.

Knowledge is another thing that the game can use.

"Nobody knows the game. Some play in high school and they come out and help but so many don't know the game," he said.

Breitkreuz's son Markus had come out and volunteered along with another parent helper at the tournament.

"We need more coaches so we could make more teams. If we have sponsors for bus rides we could take more children," he explained.

He said if he increased the number of players on each team most children wouldn't have the chance to play, which means increasing the number of teams would be ideal.

Photo Submitted

Drayton Valley mini handball team players hold up the championship banner after winning first place at a provincial-level tournament held in Edmonton recently

"This year, a few couldn't come, which was bad because they may not come back. If we get more coaches and busing we will do better," he explained.

"Mini handball now takes a break until someone hosts another tournament. The cost of busing players is getting too expensive and we may be forced to have parents drive to tournaments in the future. We will also need more volunteers if we want it to continue," he said.

VEHICLE THEFT LEAVES FAMILY WITH NOTHING

The theft of a vehicle and trailer reported stolen from the Brougham Drive area in the morning of Nov 19 left a newly arrived family with no belongings. When word of the theft spread, community members were quick to rally around the family. Watch for more on that story in next week's paper.

SCROOGE STRIKES EARLY

Christmas cheer was lacking when a thief stole a Christmas decoration from a local home last week. Drayton Valley RCMP received a report on Nov. 14 that an inflatable Darth Vader with a Christmas hat and a lightsaber had been stolen from a home on 45 Ave.

GROCERY GRABBERS APPREHENDED

Two women have been charged after Drayton Valley RCMP received a complaint from a local grocery store around 2:40 p.m. on Nov. 17. The store called police after two women left the store with a cart full of groceries they did not pay for. The then got in a vehicle and left the store. Police were able to locate the suspects. They have been charged with fraud and will make their first appearance in Drayton Valley Provincial Court next month.

LIGHT BAR STOLEN

A resident contacted police on Nov. 13 after he went outside in the morning to find that a light bar had been stolen from his vehicle on 47 Ave. sometime overnight.

GAS AND GO

The gas station in Tomahawk was the victim of two gas and dashes over last week. The first was reported to police on Nov. 14 at 7 a.m. when the driver of a black truck pumped $157 work of fuel and then left without paying.

Then, around 7:20 a.m. on Nov 20 police received another call from the same gas station, reporting that a truck had put $107 worth of fuel into the tank and then left without paying.

OIL SITES TARGETS OF THEFT, VANDALISM

Drayton Valley RCMP received a number of complaints from local oil companies about thefts and damage to oil sites in the area.

Police were called shortly after 9 a.m. on Nov. 14 by a local oil company that reported a heater was stolen out of a shack on one of its sites in Brazeau County.

On Nov. 15 police were called by a company that discovered vandalism to one of its sites on the Blaze Road. The culprit(s) had used a Cat excavator to dig a hole on the site and had also spray painted an obscene image on property at the site.

Later in the week, on Nov. 19 around 10:30 a.m., an oil company called to report that site glasses had been stolen and damage caused at one of its locations.

TRAILER, QUAD STOLEN

A trailer with a quad were stolen from the Country Style Trailer Court last week. Police received a call on Nov. 16 around 12:40 p.m. from a resident saying that some one had backed into his yard, hooked up a trailer with a quad on it and driven away. The trailer is described as 10 ft. by 80 inches, black with wooden sides. The quad that was stolen is described as a 2006 red Polaris Sportsman.

That was just one of a number of thefts reported to police between Nov. 13-20.

RCMP received a report on Nov. 16 at 5:30 p.m. that a 2006 Zeppelin trailer was stolen from Rocky Rapids.

Around noon on Nov. 18 a local man called police to report that a shed on his property was broken into and a 20 litre can of gas was stolen.

Earlier in the week, on Nov. 16 a licence plate was reported stolen from a Ford Edge on 53 Ave. Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle suggests residents periodically check the licence plates on their vehicles, especially those they may have parked in driveways or on property that aren't driven regularly.

WORST FRIEND

EVER!

Police were called by a local restaurant last week after a man would not pay his bill. When police arrived it was determined the man's friend had left the restaurant, leaving him with the bill and no way to pay it.

Police gave the man a ride to the bank where he was able to get money, return to the restaurant and settle the bill.

COLLISION CAPERS

In the period between Nov. 13-20 members of the Drayton Valley RCMP had reports of 29 collisions. Sgt. Chris Delisle said none of the collisions were serious and were the result of motorists striking animals, or not driving to road conditions.

He cautioned drivers to be aware of wildlife on local highways and roads.

"It obviously looks like animals are moving due to snow and crossing roads, so be cognizant of that," he said last week.

He also noted that road conditions in the area have changed with the arrival of snow. Driving patterns need to do the same.

A number of the collisions reported to police last week were the result of drivers not adjusting their driving habits to the icy conditions of local roads.

Fire Services news briefs

LOW CALL VOLUME ON THE WEEK FOR FIRE SERVICES

Members of the Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services had a slower week than usual between Nov. 12-19, responding to three calls for service.

On Nov. 12 at around 10 a.m. members responded after a gas riser was struck while a company was moving a mobile home. Fire Chief Tom Thomson said it resulted in a small leak that was dealt with by the gas company when it arrived on scene.

Later that day, around 6:30 p.m., firefighters from Station No. 2 were called to assist RCMP with a call for service.

FIRE from pg. 32

The last call in the seven day period was an alarm at a Drayton Valley construction site. When members of the fire services arrived it was determined a crew had been installing insulation, which set off the alarm.

BE SNOWMOBILE SMART

With snow on the ground, Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services Fire Chief Tom Thomson said he has already noticed snowmobile tracks in the snow. As people's thoughts turn to outdoor winter recreation, Thomson said it's a good time to remind snowmobilers to be safe before they hit the trails.

The most important safety reminder for people is to avoid alcohol or drugs before getting on your machine and also while out on the trails.

Before firing up the engine, snowmobilers and their passengers should all be wearing safety certified helmets and proper clothing for the weather and temperatures. Riders also need to remember that no one under 16 should be operating a snowmobile on their own.

Thomson said any sleds that will be operated on public land or trails are required to be insured and registered. Riders also need to be aware of where they can and cannot ride. Snowmobiles are prohibited within the Town of Drayton Valley and along the side of provincial highways. They are also prohibited in Eagle Point Provincial Park.

If you're heading out on the trails it's a good idea to let others know where you're going and when you plan to be back and make sure you're familiar with, and comfortable on, the machine you're riding.

Thomson said it's also important for riders to stay on marked trails, obey all signs and avoid excessive speeds. Signage should also never be moved or tampered with, as that could lead to collisions, or riders not seeing hazards, or veering off the marked trails.

When it comes to respecting where you ride, Thomson said riders should be aware that when they're out on the trails they are sharing the wilderness with local wildlife. Riders should keep their distance from wildlife, for the safety of the animal as well as to lessen the chances of a collision.

HUNT ON FOR NEW FIREFIGHTERS

The Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services is in the midst of a recruitment drive to add to its roster at Station No. 1 in Lodgepole and Station No. 3 in Drayton Valley. Applications are now available for those interested in looking at becoming a member of the Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services. To pick up an application and find out more about becoming a volunteer firefighter, visit Station No. 3 in Drayton Valley, located adjacent to the Drayton Valley Civic Centre.

Thunder make reading fun for local students

Ronald's Readers pairs students with local mentors

Lesley Allan
Western Review

When it comes to educating children, thinking outside the box is often all it takes and that's what Ronald's Readers continues to prove every year, bringing together Evergreen Elementary, Aim for Success the Drayton Valley Thunder, and a local McDonald's restaurant.

Having been offered in Drayton Valley for several years, Ronald's Readers helps heighten students interest and ability to read by pairing them with players from the Drayton Valley Thunder.

"It combines mentoring and reading, so the kids get to develop positive relationships, especially with sports [figures]," explained Shelley Chaney, Aim for Success Mentor. "[Students] think it's really exciting and starting Monday morning every week it's 'Is it Ronald's Readers day Mrs. Chaney?'"

"So they're really excited to go and the relationship that's developed between them and the players is also a really positive thing," she continued. "The players also grow too, as they do it, watching the kids reading better and getting really excited seeing that the books that they're bringing are more advanced."

On Nov. 19, this bond and friendship that was created between the Thunder players and students was evident as the group celebrated the wrap up of the program when they gathered at McDonald's, sharing laughter, breakfast and acknowledging everyone's hard work.

With a hectic schedule between games, practices, school and work, Thunder players sometimes find themselves stretched thin, but for those who involve themselves with the program it is worth it.

"It's just good to give back to the community, talk to kids, and get involved. It's really important because we're a community team so it's good to get involved with fans," says Thunder forward Braden Jakubowski. "It for sure brings the fan base closer to players, which I think is important if you want to move up, it's good to get the experience with the kids."

The first year Jakubowski has ever taken part in the Ronald's Readers program, he says the experience has been very rewarding and believes that it has given the players just as much as it has the students.

"It's a good program, it helps out the kids and also gives us lessons," he said. "Plus it's a lot of fun."

> It's fun because you get to hang out with the Thunder players, get to play some games, and I've moved up two levels (in reading) so it's helped me lots.
>
> — Kevin Keyek, student

Education and fun don't always come paired together, but for students in the program that is exactly what they get whenever they meet with the Thunder players.

"It's fun because you get to hang out with the Thunder players, get to play some games, and I've moved up two levels (in reading) so it's helped me lots," says Evergreen student Kevin Keyek, who has been involved in Ronald's Readers in previous years as well.

And that is exactly what has Chaney looking at other ways she can expand the successful program.

"It's just a really good program, if your child has the opportunity to take it, by all means support it," she said. "We're lucky to have McDonald's supporting it as well and we will be getting it started in Eldorado as well, but we're going to be doing it a little differently, so we won't be doing it with the players we'll be doing it with kids from the outreach school."

"I saw the look on all the kids faces every morning when they came to the program they were excited to be there," continued Chaney. "A lot of the time kids aren't excited to read anymore, I mean the joy of opening a book is disappearing and when they were sitting down and opening a book with a player the looks on their faces just made me think I had to do it with the Eldorado kids."

For more information on Ronald's Readers or other programs offered through Aim for Success call Chaney at (780) 542-5835 or visit www.aimforsuccess.ca.

Thunder founding father remembered by community

Drayton Valley loses passionate community member

Lesley Allen
Western Review

On Oct. 29 the community of Drayton Valley not only lost an entrepreneur and community supporter, but the Thunder lost a man whose passion for hockey helped to make the team what it is today.

Robert "Bob" Boscher, one of several members of the community considered the founding fathers of the Drayton Valley Thunder, was enthusiastic when it came to helping make the community a better place and for hockey fans the 1998 1999 AJHL season was an exciting time because of him.

"They're the visionaries," says Mike Mueller, head coach and general manager of the Thunder, about Boscher and the founding fathers. "They're the people that valued having an AJHL franchise in the community and were ultimately the guys that put up the capital for the team to get here and have continued support throughout ... and in Bob's case throughout his lifetime with the organization."

Although the founders might not necessarily play a hands on role in the day to day operation of the Thunder organization, Mueller says many still play an important role in the team and that the passion of those such as Boscher continues to help the team improve.

"Most are still active business owners, most are still sponsoring and working with our marketing department and sponsoring the team that way, which is obviously huge for us," he says. "Obviously [Bob] was a big part of us being here, and through a couple of his different companies still sponsored us."

Robert "Bob" Boscher

For those who knew Boscher on a more personal level, they say that his generosity did not stop with the Thunder and that he used his enthusiasm and success in the business world to strengthen the community and its residents.

"I think he's been extremely important," says Moe Hamdon, who also sits as a founding father for the Drayton Valley Thunder, but knew Boscher well thanks to his personal involvement in the community. "When you look at the Thunder and what he's done with the [team], or other organizations where he's quite generous in donating support in a lot of causes and that's all great, but I think what's equally important were his business ventures and the amount of jobs he provided in this community and the amount of people that called Drayton Valley home because he provided the jobs and the income and from that perspective to me he was very important as a business leader."

For those who knew Boscher one sentiment continues to be expressed when they speak of him and the impact that he had on the community he shared a great deal of passion and compassion for.

"He was very generous," shares long time friend Judy Sweet. "He did a lot of things for the community, which the community a lot of the time didn't know about because he didn't like to have the glory and all that, he's a very good man."

Describing him as someone who wanted to make a difference but didn't want the recognition Sweet expressed how he was a part of many important facilities here in Drayton Valley.

"He's been here for many years, he was involved in a lot of start-ups in things, the golf course, the curling rink, you name it," she shares. "He was just a very good man, and we've lost a very good supporter of Drayton Valley."

Echoing the sentiment of Sweet, Hamdon says that the community has lost an important member and supporter, but he hopes his memory will be used to spur on and continue the work Boscher was so passionate about.

"He's going to be missed in the community," he says. "I hope people not only appreciate the work that Bob has done, but use Bob as a role model and if they can copy a lot of his traits. We have a lot of great people in the community, but if we had a few more thinkers like Bob that would be fantastic."

Local program is looking for help from 'angels'

Snow Angels program is looking for volunteers

There isn't much snow on the ground yet but the Snow Angels program is preparing for what will be coming soon and looking [illegible]

"Well, right now we're okay because we haven't had a whole lot of snow but you know, when you think of last year and how much snow we had and you know that was a big job, so of course the more volunteers you have the easier it will be. Timing wise there were times last year when every day you needed somebody over to shovel. The more volunteers you have, so if somebody can't make it, somebody else can fill in," said Drayton Valley and District FCSS Program Assistant Karen Tetrault.

The Snow Angels program is run by FCSS, and has volunteers help shovel snow for seniors in the Drayton Valley area.

Tetrault said the program is a long-standing one and probably started due to a need in the community.

"We are looking at probably about a dozen seniors at any one time in the area (needing help)," she explained.

"Just the need in the community for seniors. It enables them to leave their home if they need to go have appointments, if they need to go shopping and a lot of them physically can't do the shovelling on their own," she added.

Currently, the program has about three individuals and a group who is available to help out.

The group is from the H.W Pickup as part of the school's leadership program, with students from Grade 7, 8 and 9 totalling 20 students.

"We do some volunteering program activities at our own school, we help out within the community and we do global community, as well, like raise money to build schools in the third world," said H.W. Pickup teacher Shannon Gallant, who runs the leadership program.

She explained the group has time dedicated as part of its timetable when they are able to go out in the community and shovel driveways as needed.

"We get 75 minutes per session. If the houses are in a close proximity I can drop them off, if they're far we all go together, all 20 of us," said Gallant who drives the bus with all the students in it.

She explained the program is popular at the school and it has been capped at 20 students. All of last year the program had the same set of 20 students but this year, the program wants to look into new set of students every semester.

"Because it's so popular we will hit 60 students that way instead of 20," she said.

Gallant explained the Snow Angels program is popular among her students because they like to help out in the community.

"The children love it. Especially when seniors come to the door. Even when they say thank you and they're waving at the window. They love to help others and that's a huge misconception about young people. They just want to be able to help people," she said.

Tetrault explained it is wise to have a number of volunteers because some of them may not be available at all times when the need is there.

"For instance the school group won't be available during Christmas break so we would then be hoping to have enough people in place by that time who still can do it," she said.

She encouraged volunteers to phone and put their name on [illegible].

"For the good feeling you get from it. It does make people happy to help and it makes you feel good and increases your own self esteem and self awareness that you're contributing to the community. You are showing empathy for somebody who doesn't have the ability that you have," she explained.

To volunteer for the Snow Angels program call Tetrault at 780-514-2206.

Obituaries

JOYCE, David Leo - It is with profound sadness that we announce the sudden passing of our beloved, David Leo Joyce. Born on October 9th, 1946 in Urnham, County of Lancaster England. Dave arrived in Canada with his parents and siblings in 1955 and eventually moved and settled in Drayton Valley. He attended Frank Maddock High School and after graduation he was hired on with Mobil Oil in 1967. Dave found his calling in the oil industry and spent the next 40 years working for Exxon Mobil Oil/Rainbow Pipeline. His work took him overseas to Saudi Arabia, but the majority of his career was spent in Rainbow Lake. He was a very knowledgeable employee and well respected in his field, a company man through and through. Dave retired at the age of 60 and spent those remaining years enjoying his cabin at Tatlana Bay, BC, touring the lake in his boat "Summertime" and enjoying all of the friends he made there over the years. Dave also enjoyed travelling especially his most recent trip to Curacao. Dave was very tech savvy, always had the latest gadgets, and was willing to assist anyone with computer difficulties. Sports were always a major passion of Dave's whether it was hockey, football, soccer, tennis, car racing or golf – if it was on TV – he was watching. Dave kept active by looking after his acreage in Ardrossan and frequent trips to the Millennium Centre for aquastride with his "ladies/gents of the deep" pals. Dave was a gentle man, described by family and friends as kind, loyal, punctual, dependable, sweet, well respected, friendly, great listener, positive, and had a good sense of humor. Dave was predeceased by his parents, Tim and Miriam. He leaves behind a brother Paul, nephew Kris (Joy, Mia & Ella-Jean), and niece Mandi (Jamie, Mackenzie & Jackson), sister Elaine (Don), nephews Sean (Apryl, Josa & Jude) and Tyler (Danielle, Liv & Evyn), niece Nikole, Sister Karen (Wade) and niece Megan (David). A Celebration of Life was held on Saturday, November 22, 2014 at 1:00 p.m. at the Olds Air Cadets Hall(Olds Rec Centre). In lieu of flowers, memorial tributes may be made directly to the Alberta Heart & Stroke Foundation or the Alberta Diabetes Foundation. HEARTLAND FUNERAL SERVICES LTD., Olds entrusted with arrangements. 403-507-8610

Marianne Eva Kelepouris
1951 - 2014

On Saturday, November 15, 2014, at the age of 63 years, Marianne Kelepouris passed away unexpectedly. She was born on January 15, 1951 to parents Eva and Rudolf in Wremen, Germany, but spent the majority of her life in Drayton Valley with her ever-loving husband and children. Marianne will be lovingly remembered and deeply missed by her husband Chris, daughters Tina (Les) Hein and Corina (Mitch) Kelepouris, grandchildren Jessica and Jaiden and sister Heidi (Alfred) Norman, as well as by her dogs Rocky and Caesar, numerous extended family and wonderful friends. Marianne is predeceased by her parents and brothers Glen, Roland and Ben. Marianne's life was celebrated on Friday, November 21, 2014. Memorial contributions in honour of Marianne may be made directly to Cause For Critters Animal Rescue Society, Box 7852, Drayton Valley, Alberta T7A 1S8. STEWART, Kenneth Loyd -
March 17, 1934 - November 7, 2014

On Friday, November 7th, 2014, Kenneth "Ken" Loyd Stewart of Drayton Valley passed away at the age of 80 years. Ken will be lovingly remembered by his wife of 60 years, Jean, sons Don (Susan) and Allen (Lorraine), daughters Darlene (Roger) Vowk, Colleen (Ralph) Johnson, Kathy Stout, Chris Bruner (Rob Olson), 17 grandchildren, 24 great grandchildren, stepbrother Glenn (Judy) Plewis, stepsister Lorraine Collinson, brothers-in-law, Carl Thornton, Charlie Herndon, Howard Jevne, Gordon Smith, Jack Smith, Stan (Diana) Smith, sister-in-law Delores Stewart as well as numerous nieces, nephews, relatives and friends. He was predeceased by his son Douglas; parents Bill and Dora Stewart; brothers Ron and Bob; sisters Doreen, Peggy and Joan; and stepfathers John Plewis and Lloyd Jensen. Funeral Services were held on Sunday, November 16, 2014 at 1:00 pm at the Whitby Hall, with interment to follow at the Rocky Rapids Cemetery. In lieu of flowers if friends so desire memorial donations may be made to a charity of choice.

MILLER, Rose -
January 22, 1921 - November 14, 2014

Peacefully at her son's home Rose Miller aged 93 years, beloved wife of the late Roy Miller formerly of Alder Flats passed away with her family by her side. She leaves to cherish her memory her sons Harvey (Rhonda), Richard (Brenda), John (Judy), daughter in law Eva as well as 8 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren, as well as numerous nieces and nephews, relatives and friends. Rose was predeceased by her husband Roy, son Harold, great grandson Ethan Miller. Her life was filled with her experiences in the outdoors as she loved to hunt and fish and did so until recently, there will be many stories of this told by her family for years to come. Rose's garden was a tremendous source of pride for her and it was a treasure as she maintained it meticulously. Cremation has taken place and no formal services will be held at this time. The family would like to thank Dr. Botes and the Winfield Homecare Staff for the wonderful care and compassion shown to Rose during her illness, it will not be forgotten. If friends so desire memorial donations in her memory may be made to the Winfield Homecare, Box 114, Winfield, AB. T0C 2X0.

CAVANAGH, Shannon Kylie - March 10, 1971 - November 12, 2014. It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of our beloved daughter, sister, mother, and aunt. Following a long battle with addiction Shannon has passed away, and is finally at peace. She was loved immensely and will be missed dearly! A private family ceremony was held to celebrate her life. A heartfelt thank you to all who have shown her love and support over the years.

May you find strength in the love of family and in the warm embrace of friends.

In Memoriams

In Loving Memory of

Stan Woloszyn

November 22, 1926 - November 28, 2012

In a quiet country grave
When gentle breezes blow
Lies the one we loved and lost
Just two short years ago
His resting place we visit
And place flowers there with care
But no one knows the heartache
As we turn and leave him there
We think of him in silence
And often speak his name
But all we have are memories
And his picture in a frame

Loved Always by:
Your Wife, Children, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren

In Loving Memory Of

Jordan McGrath

October 24, 1990 ~ November 29, 2008

He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near
Days of sadness will come upon us
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.

Always remembered and Sadly missed by
Mom, Dad,
Katherine and Kassidy
Also remembering his best friend
Ethan Thebeau

We love and miss you too

Ethan Thebeau

Aug 27 1989 - Nov 19 2006

Our lives go on without you
Cause we know you're always near
Our love we share together
Will always keep you here

We speak your name
And laugh and cry
And hold our heartaches in
Our tears flow easily as we speak
And think of you again.

Loving you and missing you more than words can say
"Hugs and Kisses"
Your Family
"Always Thinking of Your Friend Jordan"

Mrs. Landry's Grade 6 class participated in a Google Hangout Chat with Olympian Brittany Webster who talked about her current training and answered questions from the students. It was part of the Health Champions program that the class is engaged in.

The Grade 5 students will be going skating on Nov 26 at the Omniplex. We have reserved both ice surfaces so there will be lots of room for hockey, ringette and pleasure skating. Helmets and warm clothing are required.

The after school PE program is up and running. Grade 3 and 4 students are in the gym this Thursday from 3:30 to 4:20 p.m. learning the skills of volleyball. The Grade 4 and 5 group meets on Mondays at the same time.

The PAC meets tonight (Nov. 25) in the library at 7 p.m. All parents are welcome and encouraged to attend.

The Archery Program started up last week with a Tuesday group and a Wednesday group. The club meets from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the gym. There are still a few spots open. Contact Mrs. Cathercole about registering.

The Santas Anonymous Christmas hamper is in the school lobby for donations of food or toys, which will be distributed to needy families. The hamper will be picked up Dec. 19.

As part of Doctor Appreciation Week Grade 4 students from Mrs. Gressler's class discussed the importance of doctors and designed thank you cards which adorned the tables at a local appreciation dinner that was given to Drayton Valley's doctors on Nov 13. The cards had colourful pictures and appreciation messages or personal stories of how a doctor had helped the students or someone close to them. We would all like to thank the doctors of Drayton Valley for their continuing commitment and care of the residents of our wonderful town.

Donations: Thank you to all parents and businesses who have donated (in lieu of fundraising) so far! We have not yet met our goal and are still taking donations from any families and businesses who have not yet contributed. Because we don't fundraise, we look for extra funds to help us with our school budget. We even take post-dated cheques! What's best about donations versus fundraising is that all donors will receive a tax receipt for any money donated $10 and over! This is the easiest and best way to fundraise! Please make all cheques out to Wild Rose School Division. If you have any questions or concerns regarding this, we'll be happy to help you out - just give us a call. With this, we'd like to take this time to send out a huge thank you to the following business for their generosity towards our "We Don't Fundraise" fundraiser: Bear Paw Services Ltd., High Mark Well Servicing Ltd., JJ May Ltd., KIK Services Ltd., Oarlock Land Services Corp., Servus Credit Union. We also send a huge thank you to our families who have generously donated for our 'non-fundraiser' as well! On this note, we would like to thank Conoco Phillips for their generosity to our school with our Aurora Beautification Project and to the Pembina Crisis Society for donating books for the anti-bullying program.

PICKUP

Reminder that Bloomsday runners MUST be dressed appropriately on cold days (sweater/jacket, toque and gloves). It is important that you dress for the weather and those that are not dressed appropriately will be considered a miss. Also, the $150 deposit for the trip is due no later than Friday, Dec. 12 (non-refundable). Please make payments payable to the office and hand them to Mrs. Mackenzie.

Also, all students must have a valid passport for the trip that still has a minimum of six months before the passport expires. This is a Canadian Customs regulation. Be sure to start the process now, as leaving it until the spring does not guarantee that the passport will be done.

Report cards will be given out Nov. 28. Parent teacher interviews are scheduled for next Wednesday, Dec. 3. No school for students Dec. 5

H.W. Pickup would like to thank Arc Resources for their generous donation of $1,000 to our athletic department. This money will go toward new jerseys for our basketball teams as well as new equipment for the basketball teams.

We would also like to thank the Drayton Valley Oilmen's Hockey Association for their generous donation of $2,000 towards our hockey academy. This money went towards the purchase of equipment and supplies.

TOMAHAWK

Our Remembrance Day ceremony was held at Tomahawk School on Nov. 7. As a school, we paid tribute to the brave men and women, past and present, who have helped our wondrous nation enjoy the freedoms we [illegible] today.

Thank you to our special guest speakers, from the Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 269, Drayton Valley Captain Paul Spurrell, Canadian Declaration, Retired, Lt. (Ñ) Casey, Edmonton Garrison and Constable Dan Fern, Drayton Valley RCMP detachment. We greatly appreciated hearing their heartfelt and moving messages.

Thank you to our Grade 9 students Emma Robb and Broc Lindahl who were fabulous as Master of Ceremonies. Thank you to Jenna Berger and Sarah Thompson for poetry readings. Thank you to our students who placed poppy wreaths, staff and parents who helped in any large or small way.

We are delighted to report that we have collected 44 shoeboxes for the Operation Christmas Child Program. Thank you to everyone who has supported this worthwhile cause and for bringing joy into a child's life!

The Christmas season is approaching quickly. Tomahawk School's Christmas Extravaganza is a great place to shop for those special people on your list or buy a little something for yourself. Please join us on Thursday, Nov. 27 from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. and check out what our extensive list of vendors have to offer.

A concession will be available. On the menu: Delicious homemade lasagna, garlic toast with tossed green salad and home made chocolate cake for dessert. Adults: $10/supper plate & dessert Children 14 & under: $5/supper plate & dessert. All beverages, hot apple cider, tea, coffee, juice & bottled water are $1

In order to make this event a success we need volunteers for clean-up and to work a shift serving supper in the kitchen. Volunteers for set up will be needed from 1 to 3:30 p.m. and for take-down/clean-up from 8:30-10 p.m. or until finished. Please contact Cris Grahame at 780-727-3989 to book a table or to volunteer for set up and clean-up. Please contact Ashley Kendall at 780-898-5240 if you can work a shift in the concession.

Parkland School Division and Tomahawk School are happy to present Cold Cuts Count to our students and families on Fridays. In partnership with "Save on Foods and the Youth Resiliency Initiative (Health Champions), we are excited to provide Cold Lunch Counts program to our school. This is a healthy lunch program that is purchased on line by parents and then delivered.

After a lunch is purchased online, an order will be sent over to Save on Foods where a fresh deli sandwich, fruit item, and 100% juice box are prepared and labelled. The lunches will be delivered on Thursday by our local courier and served on Fridays at the school. A great feature of the program is that there is no money exchange at the school; all lunches are ordered and paid online using a credit card or the Paypal system. The lunch combos are: $6/Deli Sandwich Combo (fresh fruit item and 100% juice box); $5/Deli Wrap Combo (fresh fruit item and 100% juice box)

If you would like to order your child a lunch please visit http://parkland.coldlunchcounts.com and if you would like more information about the program, please contact Mrs. Nicholson at cricholson@ysd70.ab.ca.

We are very excited to announce that Grade 4-9 students will have the opportunity to attend a play on Dec. 5. The play will be taking place at the Horizon Stage in Spruce Grove. Students will be bused there, and back. The performance begins at 1 p.m., so students will be leaving the school at approximately 11:30 a.m. in the morning. They will then be bused back in time for the end of school. This field trip is a curricular outing, and is mandatory for all students to participate. Each student is required to have a permission form signed, and bring in $15.

Eight students from Tomahawk School earned the privilege to participate in WE Day in Calgary. The team has many community and global projects in the works. Here are some thoughts about WE Day from Jarvel M:

"I thought WE Day was really interesting. I am excited to help others learn how to change the world. I would like everyone to remember to follow your dreams. When you follow your dreams anything is possible."

As part of our Global WE Day Campaign we are collecting used batteries in the office. These batteries will be sent to RBC and then they are transferred to get exchanged for Zinc Tablets. These Zinc Tablets are then sent to people in under-developed countries as it supplements their diet to help them have healthier lives. Please send your used batteries to Tomahawk School. Thanks!

EVERGREEN

Movember Monday was held on Nov. 18 with some Grade 5 students participating. Students and teachers pay some amount each time they want to wear a moustache at school. Donations collected throughout the month will help to support men's health. For mo information, go to http://ca.movember.com.

Auditions were held and rehearsals have already begun for our annual Christmas musical. Watch for more information as we get closer to our performance dates!

Grade 1 students are having fun experimenting with colours by mixing primary colours, and adding white and black to see how a colour changes.

Grade 3 students are studying Peru. Students compiled their research of the three different regions into a class book. Jennifer Landers from Eldorado was a guest presenter because she had visited Peru for a month. She shared clothing, games and interesting facts about their customs. For example, it is the men who do the knitting, not the women. We are now working on a textile art known as Arpilleras that depicts the life of a Peru woman.

Grade 4 students enjoyed their field trip to the Reynolds-Alberta Museum in Wetaskiwin.

Grade 6 students have started working on their first stories for publishing! The students are creating Christmas stories which will be collected into a published anthology just in time for the holiday season.

Student led conferences will be held at the school in your child's classroom on Nov. 26 Please watch for specific information about the evening from your child's teacher!

Swimming lessons for November are:
